

Pacific Crossing Guide (3rd edition)

RCC Pilotage Foundation

Kitty van Hagen

Published by Adlard Coles Nautical (Bloomsbury)

This new edition of the established RCC Pilotage Foundation book is a complete revision:

Part I: Preparations has been updated throughout to reflect current cruising norms including satellite communications and navigation, and it has been expanded to include advice on atoll navigation, planning for cyclone season and highlights of Pacific culture and festivals. It also considers some of the more human aspects of long distance cruising, encouraging readers to address some very real and common concerns before they set sail. Advice on all aspects of preparations and ongoing maintenance is supplemented with links to useful websites for further resource.

Part II: Passage Planning details the seasonal patterns of Pacific weather including an expanded section on cyclical events such as El Niño and their significance to cruisers. The web of possible routes across the Pacific is then broken down into logical sections to allow further discussion of expected weather patterns and timings and strategies for specific passages, as well as giving introductory information for some of the more popular landfalls. New to this edition are the Navionics chart images which are used to illustrate landfall harbours and anchorages.

In this 3rd edition Kitty van Hagen has brought to RCC Pilotage Foundation Pacific Crossing Guide all the combined knowledge that she and her husband, Simon, have garnered over 15 years of cruising the Pacific Ocean. Whether discussing chafe on long downwind passages or advising on navigation into coral atolls, Kitty's writing is borne from first-hand experience. It is also testament to the author that she has been able to draw on her extensive network of connections with fellow Pacific cruisers to enrich the book with new contributions from a number of specialists on topics such as health, communications at sea, weather and satellite navigation, as well as on details of some of the more challenging routes. Further new contributions from fellow cruisers are evident throughout in the form of stunning and illustrative photographs.

RCC Pilotage Foundation Pacific Crossing Guide is published by Adlard Coles Nautical, an imprint of Bloomsbury Publishing Plc

ISBN 978-1-4729-3534-2

£50.00

